“ALLAH IN A GLOBALIZED WORLD”

July 13, Wednesday, 18:00 – Stanzia Castellani / Osor

Miroslav Volf is the Henry B. Wright Professor of Theology at Yale Divinity School and the founding director of the Yale Center for Faith & Culture. “One of the most celebrated theologians of our time,” (Rowan Williams, Archbishop of Canterbury), Volf is a leading expert on religion and conflict.

Three and a half billion people—the majority of the world’s population—profess Christianity or Islam. Renowned scholar Miroslav Volf’s controversial proposal is that Muslims and Christians do worship the same God—the only God. As Volf reveals, warriors in the “clash of civilizations” have used “religions”—each with its own god and worn as a badge of identity—to divide and oppose, failing to recognize the one God whom Muslims and Christians understand in partly different ways.

“Most books on the critically important current encounter between Christianity and Islam focus either on the cultural or political area. A few discuss the religious and theological issues. But Volf’s book brilliantly addresses all these dimensions in their intricate interconnection.” Harvey Cox, Hollis Research Professor of Divinity, Harvard University
